

Paul Cobelens

- Expert in waste management with more than 25 years of knowledge and experiences in all the disciplines of the waste management sector.
- Paul is the owner of the company Cores Environment Ltd: an international provider of waste management services and supplier of reusable raw materials and renewable fuels for companies, institutions and processors.
- Before he started the company, he worked as director at Sortiva. Sortiva is a public private partnership with the municipality of Alkmaar, the Netherlands and processes in total 1 million and more tonnes of waste streams from private individuals, businesses and local authorities for reuse.

Education:

- Economics, Tilburg University, the Netherlands.
- Bachelor Economics, University of applied Sciences Inholland, the Netherlands.